Governor Kaine to reflect on approach to workforce development for education, employment and economics

Richmond, Va. (April 8, 2008) – How will the tailspin of the national economy affect educating local high school students preparing for college and entering the workforce? On Friday, April 11, J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College and John Tyler Community College will host the CAPER (Capital Area Partners for Educational Reform) and PEER (Partnership to Ensure Educational Reform) Educators Institute. Over 450 local business leaders, regional educators and college administrators will participate in workshops designed to address issues related to student success and transitioning from high school to college to the workforce.

Governor Tim Kaine will be the guest speaker at the Institute's luncheon. His address will focus on Virginia's strategic approach to workforce development and the role that education and economics play in the effort.

The conference will be held from 8:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Select-Koger Center, located at 1021 Koger Center Boulevard in Richmond.
