Reynolds Community College named a “2016 Great College to Work For” by The Chronicle of Higher Education

Richmond, Va. (June 13, 2016) – Reynolds is a great college to work for, according to a new survey by The Chronicle of Higher Education, a top trade publication for colleges and universities.

The results, released today in The Chronicle’s ninth annual report on The Academic Workplace, are based on a survey of 281 colleges and universities. Only 93 of the institutions that applied for the program achieved “Great College to Work For” recognition. Results are reported for small, medium, and large institutions, with Reynolds included among the large universities and colleges with 10,000 or more students.

Reynolds proudly won honors in: Confidence in Senior Leadership; Facilities, Workspace & Security; Professional/Career Development Programs; Supervisor/Department Chair Relationship and Work/Life Balance.

“Reynolds overarching goal is “Student Success” and the way we achieve that goal is by attracting, nourishing, and investing in the very best people: professionals who dedicate themselves to their work, regardless of whether they teach, manicure lawns, perform administrative duties, or work with financial aid documents or financial forms,” says Reynolds President Gary Rhodes who has guided the college since 2002. “Like the many musicians of a symphony, each playing different instruments, we work together to create that magical harmony that results in our students’ success.”
