Black History month, also known as National African American History month, “is an annual celebration of achievements by African Americans and a time to recognize the immeasurable impact they have had on the history of the United African Americans have served in the U.S. Military pre-dating the Revolutionary War. Our nation’s armed force successes are due, in part, to the heroic efforts of Black Patriots. Let us dedicate this as a time to reflect on the contributions that African American Veterans and their families have sacrificed.

Black History Month is a time to celebrate in the strength and tenacity of those who came before us to effect positive change in the world for generations to come.

Taxes on GI Bill® funds

Do I have to pay taxes on my GI Bill® funds?

NO!

When using the GI Bill, the funds are part of your benefit package, so they are NOT reported to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). They are NOT income.
